

CLASH IN THE HOME

Matron of the Children's Home Is Discharged

ON DR. STEVENS' AFFIDAVIT

The President, Secretary and Treasurer Have Resigned and Affairs Are in an Unsettled Condition.

At the regular weekly meeting of the Children's Home society tomorrow afternoon, formal action will be taken on the resignation of Mrs. H. N. Moore, president; Miss Lou Blasco, secretary, and Mrs. Cassius M. Sweet, treasurer, which were presented one week ago.

The circumstances which influenced these resignations have heretofore been kept a secret by the members of the society, but the history in connection with them reveals the cause for the course taken by these officers. The difficulty arose over the dishonorable discharge of Mrs. Slater, the matron of the house who has been in charge of the institution since July 1 last.

This meeting was a lively one and the discussion waxed warm on all sides. The president decided that the matter was not legally considered and that the board of directors had no jurisdiction in the case as questions affecting the matron should be decided by the society.

The board, however, thought otherwise and proceeded to discharge the matron. The president's words to recognize the proceedings of the board and they were not made to exonerate the matron from all the charges preferred against her in consideration of the testimonials procured and submitted, but the affidavit made by Dr. Stevens had the greater influence.

The five department was called to No. 782 South Division street at 8 o'clock last evening and extinguished a fire in a house owned by the Valley City Milling company and occupied by Mrs. Jeanie Bell. The damage to the house was $30 and to the furniture $25, covered by insurance.

BALD HEADS ORDER YOUR ICE OF THE S. P. BENNETT FUEL AND ICE CO. LOST POWER

HE HAD KIDNEY DISEASE

ONLY RELIEF FOUND WAS IN PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND.

JAMES HARRIS, AN OCTOGENARIAN, FOUND A CURE LONG SOUGHT.

THE BRILLIANT SAYING OF T. G. APPLETON, BOSTON'S GREAT WIT.

Not everybody knows that the brilliant saying, "Is life worth living? That depends on the liver," originated with the late Thomas G. Appleton, of Boston.

There's enough wisdom in the pun to set up a college of physicians.

The liver, indeed, makes one see things through rose-colored glasses or through the smoky glass of disease.

In the weakness of shutting one's eyes to the beginning of liver troubles because they are small ones, misfortune really lies.

The man who neglects plain signs of coming illness, or who does not know what to do when sickness overtakes him—such a man is culpably ignorant.

As he gives a double benefit who gives quickly, so a man on the verge of falling into dyspepsia, nervous prostration, or kidney trouble does himself a double benefit who quickly attends to disagreeable sensations in stomach, liver or head. It may be nothing, it may be serious. The risk is large. Paine's celery compound is now so easily obtainable every druggist of any standing has it, and Paine's celery compound acts quickly and permanently relieves sufferers from their ills, that there is no excuse for a man or woman saying, "It is too late."

James Harris, of Towanda, Penn., is 81 years old. He has been courtier for 38 years, and is in this way known every part of his county. He is a man very much respected by all who know him. He has been in poor health for a long time, and his improved condition is the subject of general remark.

Clarence T. Kirby is a druggist in Towanda and he says that when Harris went to him for two bottles of Paine's celery compound last May, before he started for a visit to his daughter in Orwell, he was in very bad shape, and he would not have been surprised if Mr. Harris had never come back to court again. Let Mr. Harris tell his story:

"I have been troubled for years with what the doctors call Bright's disease, and my right kidney has bothered me terribly; my knees pained me so that I could hardly bend over at all. I had dizziness in my head, although I never was much troubled with headache. I began to feel better at once. When two bottles were gone I could get no more at Orwell and discontinued my use until I came to Towanda. But I certainly had less pain in my kidneys, had no cramps, and could sleep and rest nearly all night. When I went into the court house on my return, Judge Peck and all the court officers congratulated me on my improved appearance and told me I was getting young again. And I certainly feel younger now. I am taking my third bottle of Paine's celery compound, and shall continue its use. It has done me more good than all the other medicine I ever took, and to it I owe my present improved condition of health."
